THE HOLIDAY ISSUE | DECEMBER 2014

DEPARTMENT NEWS

PIFP Season is Upon Us!

The Public Interest Fellowship Program (PIFP) is gearing up for another year of placing driven, enthusiastic, and talented Colorado College students in non-profits around the state for summer or yearlong paid fellowships. This year, CC is excited to be partnering with a host of organizations: many former partnerships and some new. The stipend for yearlong fellows will be $24,000 plus medical insurance, and the stipend for summer fellows will be $3500. The application deadline is January 28th and there will be three information sessions in the upcoming months (see upcoming events). Please email Jeff.Livesay@ColoradoCollege.edu or Lani.Hinkle@ColoradoCollege.edu for more information.

“Food & Social Justice” featured on the CC Homepage!

Are you interested in the patterns of production and consumption and social inequality through the lens of food? If so, be sure to follow first-year Michael Sorensen’s course blog. Michael will be blogging about the course concepts, GIS project, and field study trips.

Sociology Alum to teach “Deviance & Social Control” this 6th Block!

Drew Foster, Class of 2008, will be returning to the department for 6th block to teach “Deviance & Social Control”. Drew is currently completing his dissertation at the University of Michigan. His research areas of interest include: Body & Enlightenment, Health & Illness, Culture & Knowledge, and Japan.

The SocSource is brought to you by the Sociology Department Student Advisory Board. To contribute news, events, opinion pieces, photos, jokes, or anything else, please email Steph.Olivas@ColoradoCollege.edu. We would love to hear from you!
